HEYDLER IS IN TOWN

Refuses to Talk of Coming
National League Election.

THINKS WELL OF McALEER

Washington Man Believes Nationals
Have Made Wise Move in Selecting
Norfolk as Spring Training Camp.
Thinks Double Empire System Has Come to Stay—Other Views.

By WILLIAM PEET.

John A. Heydler, of Washington, president of the National League since the death of Harry Pulliam, and likely to be president of that organization for some time to come, reached the National Capital yesterday afternoon, where he will remain until tonight.

"Now you know that I am not in a position to talk about the coming election at our league meeting," said Mr. Heydler to the writer last night. "I cannot tell whether I am likely to be re-elected or not—in fact, I am not bothering about it one way or the other. Just remember that since the death of President Pulliam I have been forced to take the reins, and there has been so much work to do that I have hardly had time to think. The question of a league president is entirely up to the league. If the managers wish to have me serve, all very well and good. I will do my best."

"What about the opposition and the apparent hostile attitude assumed toward you by President Murphy, of the Chicago Cubs?" the writer asked.

Nothing to say about Murphy. Mr. Heydler replied with a smile: "I am sure I don't know anything about Mr. Murphy, except what I've read in the newspapers. I have no comments to make whatever. The question will be settled once and for all at our annual meeting next month."

President Heydler was asked if any important issues would be brought up at the National League meeting, and replied that, so far as he knew, nothing but routine business would be transacted. He believed that the session would be a harmonious one, with the principal topic on the finances of the organization and reports of the various committees.

Asked if the National League would adopt permanently the double empire system, Mr. Heydler replied: "That I cannot say, but I believe they will, for the reason that the public demands it, and you know the public supports baseball and must be considered."

"At first," said Mr. Heydler, "I was much opposed to the double empire system, believing that confusion would arise, and that there would be too much kicking as forerunners, on account of men being on the job, but, from the way matters have progressed during the past season, I believe that the double empire system is more popular with the public. This matter, however, is up to the league, and not for the president to decide."

Norfolk is All Right.
Asked to give his ideas about the Washington club selecting Norfolk as a training camp next spring instead of Texas, or some other Southern place, Mr. Heydler replied: "I can remember way back to the time I was umpiring around these districts, and if you can show me any better weather during March than that which the local climate produces, I would like to know where it is. I think that Manager McAleer made a wise move in selecting such a place as Norfolk. The Washington players will derive just as much, if not more, benefit from training in Texas, and with an even break on the part of the weather man, I believe the team will be in better shape than those who have decided to train way down South."

"I have met Mr. McAleer several times," said Mr. Heydler, "and have been much impressed with him. I think the Washington club has made no mistake in signing such a man to take charge of the baseball team. He impressed me very favorably."

According to the National League president, he has been in Washington but twice since March 1, and then only to stay a few hours, showing how much demand on his time the affairs of the league have taken.

The writer believes that when the annual meeting of the National League is held, John Heydler will be the unanimous choice for president.

"Cubby" Charley Murphy's suggestion that Pop Anson be named for such a position is a huge joke, and doubtless intended for a laugh by the Cubs' president.

Accept Engineers' Challenge.

Sporting Editor The Washington Herald.

There appeared in the columns of this morning's issue of The Washington Herald a challenge from the manager of the Engineers, stating that he would challenge the winner of Saturday's game.

Manager Crump, of the Alexandria Athletic Club, would like to state that the Alexandria Athletic Club has been trying to arrange a game with the Engineers, but has been unable to play them. This is not due to the Alexandria Athletic Club, but to the Engineers themselves, who have yet to win a hard game, and as the A. A. C. has a reputation, they wish to play teams of the same class, and not inferior one, but will give the Engineers a game any time that they wish after Saturday, but, if they win, they will have to say where and at what time the game shall be played.

The managers of both teams will be glad to see them at Saturday's game and arrange a game with them.

Washington, Nov. 18.

Only Game Here Saturday.

All arrangements have been completed for Saturday's game at American League Park between the Alexandria Athletic Club and the Seamen Gunners, which is for the championship of the District and Virginia, and as this is the only game on Saturday, a large crowd is expected to turn out.

Coach Beverley will make the Alexandria A. C. play their best, as he realizes that it will be a hard game for his charges, but is confident that they will win.

YALE OFF FOR CAMBRIDGE

Football Squad Wildly Cheered by Undergraduates.

Capt. Coy Confident of Defeating Harvard—Players Are in First-class Condition.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 18.—Enthusiastically cheered by nearly 1,000 students, the members of the Yale football squad, who are likely to get into Saturday's game against Harvard, left the New Haven House this afternoon at 1:45 o'clock for Auburn, where the men will spend to-morrow, before the biggest game of the year.

Just before the men boarded the special car, Trainer Mack, when asked for his opinion of the team, refused to say anything further than that the men were not state, and, with the exception of Logan, Vaughan, Daly, and Haines, were in good condition.

Capt. Coy said: "I think we will win, but can say nothing further, as I have not seen Harvard play."

The line-up of the team for Saturday's game was announced before the men went away: Kilpatrick, left end; Hobbs, left tackle; Andrews, left guard; Cooney, center; Goshel, right guard; Liley, right tackle; Savage, right end; Howe, quarter back; Philbin, left half back; Murphy, right half back, and Coy, full back.

There will be no practice at Auburn, the men will dress at Soldiers' Field, and after the game will break training with a banquet, probably at the Westminster.

GOSSIP OF THE BOXERS.

Billy Papke is in Chicago, and insists to the sporting writers that Klaus' victory over him can't be repeated.

Ad Wolgast has left New Orleans for Frisco, where he meets Lew Powell in a twenty-round bout on November 30.

Harry Lewis has already posted his forfeit to meet Klaus at catch-weights on the night of November 27, before a Philadelphia club.

Lank Kenny sure is kicking up some dust at the way he was treated by Jack Johnson while he was acting as his sparring partner.

Frankie Neil is working hard in a New York gymnasium for the prospective match with Patsy Kline, in Baltimore, at the end of this month.

A St. Louis paper says that Johnny Thompson is a third rater, and also that he hasn't shown anything yet that would make any one but a dead man tremble.

Hugo Kelly is again in good health, after an illness of several weeks, and is expected to return to the ring again. Ketchell and Papke are preferred, says Hugo.

Sporting men out Frisco way think that Lew Powell will take Ad Wolgast's measure when they meet. They say Lew just eats them when they come tearing in as Ad does.

Leach Cross, from latest reports, has decided to quit the boxing game and stick to the dental profession. He has moved to Harlem, N. Y., and intends to build up his practice there.

Now that he has visited our beautiful shores, Adolph and Piet will perhaps go back to that dear France and get lost into the game in one of the "ash houses." They were waiters, 'tis said.

Frankie Madden, one of the hardest hitting light-weights who ever fought in this part of the country, is now down in Georgia boxing third raters. What wouldn't Frankie have done to them a couple of years ago?

If Stanley Ketchell sticks to his resolution of not fighting out of the middle-weight class again, he will be a second Jeffries in that division. The "assassin" has very few equals in the heavy-weight division, much less in the former class.

Gunboat Smith, the man who put Johnson down in his training quarters recently, fought Young Peter Jackson last week and got the decision after ten hard rounds. Smith is very popular in California because of his wonderful showing as a green fighter.

A Philadelphia exchange observes that it has been suggested that a few of the light-weights who want to name some of the real stars go out and make good in a couple of bouts, instead of demanding a crack at the boys who fought their way up the ladder.

One of the hardest battles Packey McFarland ever took part in was given him by Ray Brownson, the Indianapolis fighter. Brownson fought Packey a twenty-round draw in New Orleans. The matchmaker of the Armory Athletic Club, of Boston, has signed Brownson to meet Dave Deisher at that club in the near future.

Would-be Fight Promoters
Fail to Qualify.

AL HERFORD PUTS IN A BID

Baltimore Man Would Like to Get
Jeffries-Johnson Fight—Both Principals, However, Believe Cofferth or Gleason Will Land the Heavy-weight Battle for California.

New York, Nov. 18.—According to Bob Murphy, who is stakeholder for the Jeffries-Johnson fight, not a single offer of the many that have been coming in for a month from all sorts of would-be promoters, has been accompanied by the necessary certified check for $5,000, as stipulated in the articles of agreement.

Murphy said that unless these offers are backed up with the required forfeit before December 1, they will be thrown in the waste basket to clear the way and save time for legitimate club promoters to put in their bids. When articles were signed, the fact that the $5,000 must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith was widely published, so that it is safe to say that the bids already received by the stakeholders are worthless.

As the time draws near to consider bids, the impression grows that Jack Gleason and James Cofferth are the only promoters who will be regarded seriously by the pugilists and their managers, unless McCarey, of Los Angeles, comes across with an unexpected big offer.

Look to Frisco.

In private conversation both Jeffries and Johnson have admitted that Gleason and Cofferth are the only "Frisco men" who know how to pull off a big fight, as these promoters have plenty of ready money with which to meet conditions that may be named by the pugilists. It seems to be a foregone conclusion that one of the other will get the match. So, persons who never had a chance to pull off the fight in Idaho, Utah, Colorado, Washington, Kentucky, Georgia, Connecticut, and other promising places, may soon realize that time and postage have been wasted to no purpose.

Baltimore Wants Fight.

Baltimore, Nov. 18.—Al Herford, manager of the Borek Athletic Club, and one of the foremost promoters of pugilism in the East, is thinking very seriously of trying to land the heavy-weight championship match between Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson, for Baltimore. Herford proposes to go to New York when bids are opened for the match, and to offer inducements which, in his opinion, would compare favorably with those offered to the promoters of the East.

He believes that Baltimore is geographically situated that the mill would draw an enormous crowd from every big city in the East and as far West as Chicago, which would prompt him to erect a big pavilion on the outskirts of the city, possibly Highlandtown, for the holding of the contest.

One thing that might prove a stumbling block in the plans of the Baltimorean is his effort to land the big event would possibly be the opposition of the governor. Herford, notwithstanding, is figuring very strongly on the contest for Baltimore. After his tour of the East, Jeffries is to meet Johnson in New York on December 1, when the club offering the best inducements will be selected to promote the argument between the world's greatest heavy men.

NO GAME FOR TARHEELS.

North Carolina Calls Off Annual Thanksgiving Contest.

Special to The Washington Herald, Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 18.—At a meeting to-day of the university athletic association, it was decided to call off any Thanksgiving Day football game. Every possible game was discussed and its advisability decided upon. After exhausting the intermediate list, it was found that no game could be arranged that would be worth while and profitable.

The Princeton manager wired yesterday morning that his team had disbanded. Leigh asked for a guarantee. The Navy again wired the impossibility of a game at Washington, but offered a guarantee of $500, plus expenses, while at Annapolis. The distance to Annapolis and the heavy expenses incident to preparation would overbalance the guarantee.

The only remaining possible game was with Washington and Lee. This game had already been played as scheduled, Carolina winning, 6 to 0. This game would have been either a possible defeat or a probable rehearsal of last Saturday's victory.

In the game as such the students and team had no interest. The latest reports from Richmond were to the effect that on account of the donor funeral in Richmond of two football victims and the growing sentiment against the game there, the game in Richmond would have been unsuccessful.
